The use of these cookies required for technical purposes is essential for pre-contractual measures (Art 6 Para 1 lit b GDPR) or is justified by our overriding legitimate interest in the functionality of our website (Art 6 Para 1 lit f GDPR).

Matching of customer data with online advertising providers

On the basis of your prior voluntary consent, we may also send you targeted ads external to our websites via the advertising channels of the online advertising providers listed below, but only if you are already registered with these providers or use their services (‘matching of customer data’ or ‘customer match’). For this purpose, we use your personal data in encrypted form to match it with the customer database of the respective providers. For this purpose, only data anonymised with an encryption process is used, which means that providers who do not already have your data will never receive your data. This is ensured by the fact that before your data is transmitted to the providers, we encrypt your data using a hash procedure, which results in a non-reversible character string (‘hash value’) that does not allow any conclusions to be drawn about your data. Only this hash value is transmitted to the providers. The providers encrypt their data using the same method. We then compare our hash value with the hash value of the provider. If our hash value matches that of one or more providers, we can be certain that you are already using the services of the respective provider and that we can therefore send you targeted ads via their advertising channels.

In order to offer you such ads through external online advertising providers, the following categories of data may be processed in addition to the data processed during your visit to our website:

- E-mail address
- Telephone number

- First name
- Last name
- Country
- Postcode
- Shopping behaviour and favourite products

Subject to your prior voluntary consent, we may send you targeted ads via the channels of the following online advertising providers after a successful ‘matching of customer data’ has been completed.

Service	Place of processing	Provider and data privacy information of the provider
Criteo audience match	EU/EEA	Criteo (Criteo SA)
Google Customer Match	EU/EEA, USA	Google (Google Ireland Limited) For additional information on the responsible use of data by Google, click here: https://business.safety.google/privacy/

Pinterest customer list	EU/EEA	Pinterest (Pinterest Europe Ltd.)
TikTok Custom Audience	EU/EEA, USA, Malaysia, Singapore	TikTok (TikTok Technology Limited)

Google Enhanced Conversions

Based on your prior voluntary consent, we may use Google's ‘Enhanced Conversions’ technology. This enables us to better understand and evaluate the success of our online advertising and to optimise our advertising strategies.

We will use your personal data to compare it with Google's customer database for this purpose. However, we will only use data anonymised by an encryption process, which means that Google will never receive your data if you do not already have a Google account. This is achieved by encrypting your data using a hashing process before transmission, which results in a non-reversible character string (‘hash value’) that does not allow any information to be inferred from your data. This hash value is generated and transmitted to Google only if you carry out certain predefined actions or ‘conversions’ (such as orders) on our website. When such a conversion occurs, Google compares the hash value of your data with its own hash values, which are encrypted using the same method. If they match, your conversion can be assigned to your Google account and thus notify us of the success of our advertising placement.

The following categories of your data may be processed in encrypted and anonymised form:

- E-mail address
- Telephone number

Click Fraud Technology and Bot Detection
If you reach our website by clicking on advertisements displayed via search engines, we can use services to analyse and prevent "click fraud". Click fraud occurs when clicks on ads are generated by automated tools or when multiple clicks on ads are unlikely to be driven by genuine interest.

We may also use bot detection technologies to protect certain forms and functions on our website from automated access, spam and other forms of misuse.

This enables us to tailor the content and sending frequency of our newsletters to your presumed interests. You may object to this personalisation at any time via your customer account or by using the relevant link in a personalised newsletter.

This analysis is carried out on the basis of our legitimate interest in making our newsletters more relevant and better tailored to your needs (Article 6(1)(f) GDPR). 5) What data do we process when you order our products via Amazon Marketplace?
We also offer some of our products via the Amazon Marketplace. When you order our products through Amazon Marketplace, we receive from Amazon, or the respective responsible Amazon entity, the data necessary for processing your order as well as for the fulfilment of related legal and contractual obligations.

In this context, in addition to the data processed by Amazon during your use of their services, we process the following categories of your data:

- Name
- Contact details
- Email address and/or communication data provided by Amazon
- Telephone number, insofar as required for delivery or establishing contact
- Billing and shipping address
- Order and delivery data
- Returns, refunds, and complaint data
- Payment and transaction data, insofar as these are made available to us by Amazon
- Correspondence data, including all data you provide to us in connection with your order via Amazon
- Any information required for tax or statutory purposes

We process this data for the following purposes:

- Processing your order via Amazon Marketplace
- Delivery of the goods ordered and engaging parcel delivery or freight forwarding services
- Communication with you regarding your Amazon order, particularly in the event of queries, delivery issues, returns, complaints, or warranty claims
- Invoicing and the fulfilment of tax and corporate law obligations
- Statutory record-keeping requirements in accordance with Section 132 of the Austrian Federal Fiscal Code (BAO)
- Handling of returns, refunds, customer enquiries, and other service-related matters
- Prevention and investigation of fraudulent activity or attempted fraud
- Establishing, exercising, or defending legal claims

- Fulfilment of our contractual obligations towards Amazon, insofar as this is necessary for sales via Amazon Marketplace

The processing of these data categories is restricted to the extent necessary for the performance of a contract (Art. 6(1)(b) GDPR) or for compliance with our legal obligations (Art. 6(1)(c) GDPR). Furthermore, processing is carried out where necessary for our overriding legitimate interests in ensuring seamless business operations, the secure handling of orders, and the establishment or defence of legal claims (Art. 6(1)(f) GDPR).

We do not use data received in connection with an order via Amazon Marketplace for our own newsletters, customer accounts, customer match services, personalised advertising, or other promotional purposes unrelated to the Amazon ordering process, unless a separate legal basis exists for such use.

In order to comply with Amazon's data protection and data security requirements, we process data from Amazon orders only to the extent required in each case. Our internal systems and processes are designed to ensure that only such personal data as is actually required for the relevant purpose is used or disclosed. In particular, no unnecessary personal communication data is transmitted to shipping and logistics service providers.

For the processing of orders via Amazon Marketplace, it may be necessary for us to transmit your data, to the extent required, to the following categories of recipients:

We protect all data by means of appropriate technical and organisational measures, in particular through access restrictions, role-based permissions, logging, encryption during transmission, protection against unauthorised access, and regular reviews of the systems and service providers used.

We store data from Amazon orders only for as long as is necessary for the relevant purposes. Insofar as Amazon specifies shorter retention, deletion, or anonymisation periods for certain categories of data, we take these specifications into account through corresponding internal processes. Data required exclusively for the operational processing of an Amazon order will be deleted, anonymised, or reduced to the legally required minimum once the relevant purpose no longer applies.

Where statutory retention obligations apply, in particular, retention obligations under tax and corporate law, we store the necessary documents for the statutory period. Once the purposes have been fulfilled or the retention periods have expired, the data will be deleted, anonymised, or disposed of in compliance with data protection laws. Where applicable, this also includes deletion or anonymisation from production systems, time-delayed removal from backups as part of technical deletion cycles, and the secure disposal of any paper documents or data carriers.

Amazon also processes your data in connection with the use of Amazon Marketplace as an independent controller. Further information on the processing of your data by Amazon can be found in Amazon's Privacy Policy.

- Statutory retention as defined in Section 132 of the Austrian Federal Fiscal Code (BAO)
- Internal administration and management of our business relationship to the extent necessary (e.g. processing your business case, forwarding business cases to various departments, filing, archiving purposes, correspondence with you)
- Establishment and defence of legal claims

These categories of data are processed to the extent necessary in each case. If you do not provide us with this data, we will unfortunately be unable to process your business case.

8) How long will your data be stored?
We only store your data for as long as is necessary for the purposes for which we collected your data. In this context, statutory retention obligations must be taken into account (for example, for reasons of tax law, contracts, order data or other documents from a contractual relationship must generally be retained for a period of seven years (§ 132 BAO)). Your name, address, purchased goods and date of purchase are also stored until the product liability expires (after 10 years according to § 13 Product Liability Law). In justified individual cases, such as for the assertion and defence of legal claims, we may also store your data for up to 30 years after the termination of the business relationship.

We store the data that we process in the context of contacting you for up to three years from the time you last contacted us.

10) Does automated decision-making or profiling take place (Art 13(2)(f) GDPR)?
We do not use solely automated decision-making on our website where this would produce legal effects concerning you or otherwise significantly affect you.

For registered customer accounts, we may use previous orders to infer likely product interests in order to suggest suitable products in the shop. You can object to this use in your customer account under "Personalisation".

For registered newsletter subscribers, we may use previous orders to assign you to a customer group in order to tailor newsletter content and sending frequency. We explain how you can object to this in Section 2.

In addition, we may analyse the total value of your purchases in connection with your customer account to determine whether you meet the requirements for an invitation to our loyalty program. You can object to this analysis in your customer account under "Personalisation".

The personalisation of product recommendations and newsletters does not affect your prices, the products or payment methods available to you, or your ability to enter into a contract. Any benefits associated with participation in the loyalty program are subject to its terms and conditions of participation.

During the ordering process, the selected payment service provider may also use automated procedures, including profiling, for fraud prevention or payment verification purposes. Further information can be found in the respective provider's privacy policy.

11) What rights do you have in relation to the processing of your personal data?
We would like to inform you that, where the applicable legal requirements are met, you have the following rights:

You may object at any time, without giving reasons, to the processing of your personal data for direct marketing purposes, including any related profiling. We will then no longer process your personal data for those marketing purposes.

Where we process your personal data on the basis of your consent, you have the right to withdraw that consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent does not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before the withdrawal (Article 7(3) GDPR).

If, contrary to expectations, you believe that your right to the lawful processing of your personal data has been infringed, please contact us. We will endeavour to address your request without undue delay and, in any event, within the statutory period of one month.
